

P. C. U. DEFEAT THE ALL STARS

Pitchers Battle With Trayers Getting the Better Support.

The Portsmouth Catholic Union defeated the All-Stars of the Sunset League at the play grounds on Saturday in a good game considering the weather, which was much more appropriate for football than baseball.

It was a pitchers' battle between Sorelle of the All-Stars and Jim Trayers, who pitched for the P. C. U., and Trayers had the better of the argument, striking out nine men, whereas Sorelle had to be satisfied with six. While the All-Stars made ten hits off Trayers, they failed to touch him, whereas the P. C. U. bunched hits on Sorelle and these combined with some loose playing gave the required number of runs.

Considering the weather the work of both pitchers was exceptionally good. Sorelle was exceptionally steady, while Trayers passed one man and hit two others which proved costly.

The All-Stars had six errors credited to them. Mattison was off his game and contributed two errors, and even Geo. Woods put one over.

Trayers on the other hand had nine support. Kincaid, Hughes, Hoffman and Kahlka played great ball. Pruett caught a good game but had two passed balls.

For the All-Stars Huntoon played a sensational game making seven assists and Fisher caught a good game, while Sorelle fielded his position finely.

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED IN FIRST GAME

The Portsmouth High school football team, had their first tryout on Saturday at the Plains, when they played against a picked team of former High school players. The boys did not make a very fine showing as the picked team ran away with them and scored three touchdowns. It was, however, excellent practice and it will do a great deal to build up the team, as to many of the team it was their first real touch of football.

Capt. Matthews had a good number of candidates out and he gave them all a chance, and some of the boys showed up very well. Quirk was kept at quarterback and he looks like a permanent fixture. Bennett was in center and he also showed up well.

For the Independents McCarthy, at quarter, White at half and Hennessey at end played fine ball.

THE LEVIATHAN ASHORE.

The steam lighter Leviathan, which travels between this city and Rockland with stone, went ashore early Saturday evening on Pumpkin Island. She grounded hard and falling to get off under her own steam whistled for assistance and the tug Mitchell Davis went to her assistance.

The lighter was pulled off without any serious damage and was hauled to this wharf.

ANOTHER AVIATOR GOES TO HIS DEATH

BELFAST, Ire., Sept. 22.—H. J. D. Astley, one of the most intrepid and skillful of English aviators, was killed Saturday afternoon by the fall of his aeroplane.

Astley and James Valentine, each driving a machine, were making exhibition flights in the presence of 30,000 spectators. Astley was descending while the people cheered. He attempted to bank too sharply when making a sudden turn and, caught by a strong wind, the monoplane fell like a stone from a height of 100 feet.

Women screamed and fainted. Astley was flung against one of the wings and his skull fractured. He died soon after being taken to the hospital.

Astley, when flying from France to England, with Miss Trehawke Davis as a passenger, had a marvelous escape near Lille Sept. 17. On that occasion the machine fell 150 feet and Miss Davis is said to have made an entry in her diary of her sensations as they dropped.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—Astley's wife witnessed the flying at Hendon Saturday. She left the grounds in the best of spirits not knowing that her husband had been killed.

KNOX LAUDS JAPAN ON LEAVING

TOKYO, Japan, Sept. 21.—Philander C. Knox, Secretary of State and special ambassador of the United States at the funeral of the late Japanese ruler, and Mrs. Knox, accompanied by their suites, left Tokyo at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon for Yokohama on their way home to the United States. Many persons prominent in Japanese public life were at the station to see the American party off.

The consensus of the Japanese press and personal opinion is that the American mission has created the most favorable impression, as demonstrating the sympathy of the United States in Japan's national loss.

The American cruiser Maryland, which will take the party back to the United States, will sail from Yokohama for Honolulu at noon Sunday.

Knox Guest at Dinner.

YOKOHAMA, Japan, Sept. 21.—The American Secretary of State, Philander C. Knox, was the guest of honor at a dinner given here tonight by the members of the American colony.

Responding to a toast, the Secretary reviewed the accomplishments of the reign just closed, saying that Japan's grief, in which those present shared personally, might be assuaged by a proud contemplation of the inextinguishable blessings of the Meiji era, during which the empire had extended and been permanently established. This era was unexcelled by any other chapter of human history, he declared.

The relations of the United States to the marvelous changes in this country in the past sixty years had been intimate, he continued.

Urged by U. S. to Open Door.

"The Japanese horizon was extended largely because we urged her to open the door for the ingress of our civilization and the egress of her own," he said. "The empire has been unified and strengthened through a self-sacrificing patriotism which is without historic precedent because such changes were necessary to enable Japan to meet her responsibilities and protect herself against the dangers in the new relations to which the west had invited her."

Mr. Knox said that when the Meiji emperor established equal and humane laws the west looked on with admiration, and recognized a determination to advance faithfully to a higher world of civilization. Recalling with satisfaction the special and important part played by the United States in urging Japan to take her proper place and broaden the stage of her world activities, he said that America was logically prepared to rejoice with Japan in her progress toward the attainment of a maximum development.

Football Warriors at the Big Colleges Work Hard for Fame on the Gridiron

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 22.—

Football players at all the big universities are now hard at work preparing for the big games to come later.

Training for a gridiron campaign is anything but child's play. Few except those in the game realize what the early days of the training mean to the endlesk warriors. For the first days of the practice season little is attempted beyond the kicking and catching of the football, running practice to improve the wind and an occasional lineup, with all scrimmage work eliminated. The second weeks practice time is lengthened. At this time tackling defensive and offensive formations and a little scrimmage work are injected into the training. The third week the scrub or second team is called into operation and the practice begins to acquire the aspect of a regular foot ball game. Then the training table is started and the rubbers called into use to massage away the bruises and strains incident to practice. By about the middle of October both the coaches and the trainers know the physical and mental peculiarities of their charges and fit the training school to meet their requirements as far as possible. Then the squad is reduced 50 per cent by the elimination of those unfit from one cause or another to stand the strain of gridiron play. With the big game but a month away the varsity eleven must be welded into a perfect football machine that acts with restless force at the command of the quarterback. Morning and afternoon practice consists of kicking, tackling and other features of play in which certain members of the squad may be deficient. Thus the men who win praise during the premier games of the football season round into form for the struggle which brings victory or defeat. Picture No. 1 shows men at pushing machine; No. 2 player practicing how to recover the ball; No. 3, tackling the dummy.

jumping oxygen in and drawing it out of the lungs, last night saved a young man's life. The physicians who worked the pulmotor are inclined to the opinion that the spark of life may have left the body but it was brought back by the artificial respiration.

Ward Worthington, twenty-three, of No. 4739 Penn street was overcome yesterday by nitric acid fumes from a broken carboy. He lapsed into unconsciousness upon reaching the Frankford Hospital.

As a last resort Dr. Joseph A. Thompson suggested that a pulmotor be sent for. By the time a taxicab had returned with the machine, life apparently had left the body of Worthington. An artery in his arm was cut and ten ounces of blood, which had turned black, was taken out. Into the incision fifteen ounces of salt water was injected to produce the effect required to make the pulmotor effective.

The rubber cap of the pulmotor was adjusted so it covered the face of the patient and the machine was started working. Oxygen was forced into his lungs and withdrawn as in natural breathing. For four hours Worthington's condition remained unchanged. At 3 a. m. Worthington's body started to regain its natural color and at 4 o'clock he recovered consciousness. Shortly after 5 o'clock he was given a meal and was able to talk to the physicians.

WATER ENOUGH AT PANAMA

WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—The engineers' calculations as to the sufficiency of the water supply in the Panama Canal have been amply vindicated by the figures just reported from the Isthmus. The great Lake of Gatun, which is being created by the dam at that point, in the week of Sept. 2 to 9 accumulated 5,740,000,000 feet of water. In the period the water level of the lake rose three feet.

Every time a ship is locked through the canal 5,500,000 cubic feet of water must pass, and when the lake is full it will afford enough water to fill the locks 150 times daily, which is at least twice as fast as the ships can pass.

When the surface of the lake reaches its maximum height of 87 feet above sea level, with the water just flowing over the crest of the dam, it will contain the enormous amount of 122,250,000,000 cubic feet of water.

A FINE PRIVATE POLICE FORCE

The Rockingham Park Police, recently organized at Salem, seems destined to make a record for efficiency unexcelled by any local police department in the country. Organized on a semimilitary basis, with the men selected especially on their record of past experience in police service and knowledge of criminals, thoroughly drilled and equipped and provided with modern accessories, Deputy United States Marshal Charles A. Bancroft, under whose supervision the department was recruited and "pounded into shape," has every reason to be proud of the force of which he is in command.

The "Rockingham Police" had its inception in the protection of thousands attending the shows held at Salem. The town had no regular police, and protection of property, especially during the big shows, became a most important question.

So to subserve the maintenance of law and order the Park Association decided this year to establish the force. With Ex-Mayor Eugene E. Reed of Manchester as president the association, and the enthusiastic cooperation of the people of Salem, the work of organizing the force was begun under Deputy Marshal Bancroft, who is recognized as one of the most accomplished officers in the Federal service.

With the approval of United States Marshal Guy Murchie, Deputy Bancroft in his spare time organized the department, which was practically completed on May 26, and 115 men were selected and were nightly drilled at Deacon Hall at the South End.

The superior officers besides Deputy Bancroft, who ranks as captain, are Lieutenants James McMullen and Edward C. Wilson, 11 sergeants of patrolmen and a sergeant at the head of a mounted squad. The latter body is composed of active members of Troop D, Roxbury Horse Guards, commanded by 1st Sergt. William F. Swain of D Troop. The men are Fred C. Cane, Frank Holt, George C. Garbity, Daniel F. Adams, Harry Keenan and Edward Holden.

The sergeants of patrolmen are John H. Doran, formerly on Division 6, South Boston; William M. Fullick, chief engineer of the Wayland Fire Department; John Shea, a former United States Government Inspector was 1st Boston; Benjamin Haskoy, a Boston special policeman; Frank W.

Carigan, formerly master-at-arms on the U. S. S. Chicago; Edward Hogan, an ensign in the Naval Brigade; Edward J. Robinson, a Boston constable; Charles Hipplar, a shipper in a Boston mercantile house; Thomas McMullen, a salesman, and Edwin Fowler, in the drug business.

The lieutenants were men of experience, James McMullen, formerly being a member of the Boston police, and Cavert Wilson has long been an officer of the Superior Court of Suffolk County.

Capt. Bancroft made his plaid clothes squad of picked men a feature and they ranked as "detective sergeants."

The efficiency of the department was demonstrated by the service rendered during the week of the fair at Salem. As more than 200,000 people attended, their work was exceedingly arduous. At 4 each morning Capt. Bancroft met his men in conference when instructions were issued especially on keeping a sharp lookout for thieves. That the Captain's orders were well obeyed is shown by that fact that of 150 arrests for various offences, 37 were well-known crooks or suspicious persons, some of whom were fined and others given a quick ride in the patrol wagon to the railroad station where they were sent away. Only one case of larceny was reported and the culprit was caught and is in jail at Portsmouth.

The general supervision of the force is under Theodore W. House, closely identified with the association, who is well-fitted for his position as Superintendent.

DEMAND FOR RELEASE
OF PRISONER*United States Ambassador Claims American Being Prosecuted.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 21—Ignoring the usual channels of diplomatic intercourse, the American ambassador, Henry Lane Wilson, has made a peremptory demand on Gov. Matias Guerra of the state of Tamaulipas for the immediate release from the jail at Tampico of W. C. Nichols, an American fruit grower. Nichols was arrested six months ago on a charge of having killed a bandit. Caballos, whose apprehension the authorities had attempted for many months.

The embassy was authorized by the administration at Washington to employ whatever means were considered necessary to bring about an amelioration of Nichols' condition. Ambassador Wilson declares that he will secure his release even if it should become necessary to land marines from the United States cruiser Des Moines, which is now in port at Tampico with 280 marines aboard.

Calls It Persecution.

The American ambassador regards the treatment accorded Nichols by the Mexican authorities as persecution, and has so stated in his messages to the governor. In support of this belief he points to the fact that a Mexican has confessed in court to being the slayer of Caballos.

This confession was disregarded by the court, which declared that it was prompted by belief on the part of the witness that a reward had been offered for Caballos dead or alive. The Mexican was not arrested, and the process against Nichols was continued on an appeal from the sentence of eight years' imprisonment imposed upon Nichols by the Tampico court. The appeal is being heard before the court at Ciudad Victoria, the state capital.

The jail in which Nichols is confined is filthy and overcrowded. Ambassador Wilson has been treating the matter for several months diplomatically, but has met with delays and accomplished little. In his note to the governor, the ambassador reminded him that his message was not official, but that it was to be considered none the less authoritative. He demanded that Nichols be placed "in surroundings more sanitary and in keeping with the usage of civilized countries," pending the proceedings against him, which Ambassador Wilson suggested be hastened.

Was Arresting Bandit.

The killing of Caballos occurred near Tampico. Nichols had been vested with authority to arrest the desperado, which he succeeded in doing. He was taking him to Tampico on a train when, in the confusion at the crowded station, the captive escaped. Nichols and a big crowd pursued him. Nichols admits firing, but the evidence showed that he fired in the air. The body of Caballos was found later several hundred yards from the spot, with a bullet through the heart.

Nichols' high character has been testified to by a petition signed by 100

American residents of Tamaulipas, which was sent to the embassy begging intercession.

The local Progressive party have opened headquarters in Mechanic block, and have fitted up two rooms to be retained during the campaign. The headquarters were visited by many of the Bull Moose.

The Progressives were delighted with one call they received, it was from the old political war horse of Ward four, Leslie Norman.

Leslie is in charge of the U. V. U. hall and he wandered in with the Bull Moose by mistake and was lassoed before he could beat a retreat. Once corralled he, became interested and gave a campaign talk that was very interesting.

SOME HOPES OF KEENAN BEING ALIVE

THE MT. WASHINGTON, BRIETON WOODS, Sept. 22—It is believed John M. Keenan, the Charlestown, Mass., young man who was lost Wednesday morning on Mt. Washington, was still alive at noon Sunday in spite of the terrible ordeal he must have endured during the past three days.

While the numerous searching parties were exploring every part of the Pinkham Notch road, where it was supposed he was seen yesterday, a man accosted a lone trampster passing along the Raymond path near the Glen House.

The stranger said he belonged to a bunch of survivors on Mt. Washington and that he was looking for Keenan's farm.

The trampster, who was not aware any one was missing, did not desire the society of a man of such wild appearance as the stranger's, whose clothes were in tatters and his face expressing nothing but madness.

So the trampster continued his way to the Glen House, where he obtained news of the missing man and reported his encounter.

Word was immediately dispatched to the searchers on the Pinkham Notch road, where a man thought to be Keenan was seen yesterday by George N. Turner of Bethlehem and Dr. Glines of Hanover.

Hopes of Finding Him Today.

The various parties came to the Glen House and there separated again and searched until late tonight. The last report is that they have given up for the night, but will begin again at daybreak.

Searching parties have been formed in all parts of the mountains, going out from the various houses in Gorham and all about the vicinity of the Pinkham Notch road. Every guide familiar with the mountain trails has volunteered his services, as well as many members of the Appalachian Club. Every man on the scenic railway survey, every member of the staff of Among the Clouds and all available men of the Mt. Washington Railway are giving their whole time to the search.

It is thought probable Keenan's rescue will be accomplished tomorrow. The indications that he is temporarily deranged, if true, insures that life will be sustained longer, as he is less susceptible to bodily fatigue, according to the mountaineers. He has not, however, lost his sense of his own identity, as evidenced by his conversation with the trampster this noon, and he is still looking for some habitation.

FORCELESS WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

In spite of the activity of the advocates of the suffrage for women, made possible by the use of money on a large scale, it cannot be denied that the public as a whole is but little interested in the matter. If it be asked why this feeling of indifference exists, the answer is, no doubt, that most people feel it really makes and can make no great difference in government whether women shall exercise the suffrage. In support of this theory there is the experience of those States of the American Union where the right of suffrage has been possessed by women for a considerable period. A striking instance of the failure of woman suffrage to insure or to produce good government is afforded in Colorado, "the centennial State." Full suffrage was adopted in that State in 1893, 19 years ago, and it must be admitted, therefore, that in that State the experiment has been thoroughly tried. In no other city of its size in the country, we believe, has woman suffrage prevailed for as long a period as in Denver, the capital city of Colorado. It is of interest to note what is now going on there. On Tuesday last a special grand jury in Denver, after a session of some weeks' duration, returned forty-six indictments against more than one hundred persons and corporations, including the following:

Mayor Henry J. Arnold.
Chief of Police Felix O'Neill.
Former Mayor Robert W. Spear.
Former Chief of Police Hamilton Armstrong.

W. T. Davoren and Earl Howitt, former members of the Fire and Police Board.

George Creel and A. A. Blakeley, members of the Fire and Police Board.

The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company.

E. B. Field, president of the telephone company.

E. B. Field, Jr., vice president and general manager of the telephone company.

Stephen Knight, Mrs. M. W. Jones,

D. E. Phillips, John W. Gillespie and T. V. Carlin, members of the School Board.

International Trust Company.

This grand jury acted under instructions from a local judge "to investigate vice and saloons, the 'food trust,' the public utility corporations, city hall graft, public safety devices, blackmailing by newspapers and to make an examination of the State and county treasury books." Many of the indictments, it is said, are against "men of high business and social standing, who own property in the red light district and in other localities." No American city, we believe, has made a more prominent feature of its "red light district" than Denver, and since the recent attempt was made in New York city to give publicity to the names of those who rent property for immoral uses, a movement on the same general lines seems to have been started in Denver. It will not be claimed, of course, that the attempt to "clean up" the city of Denver is due to the women more than to the men of the city, because, if there had been any special desire on the part of the women of Denver for a change in this respect it would have been manifested ten or fifteen years ago.

In her State affairs Colorado has not been more successful in achieving good government than have the States of the Union where women do not exercise the suffrage. For some time the State has had only one United States senator because of the inability of its people to agree how the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Hughes shall be filled. Colorado's one senator bears the name of Guggenheim, which name Hon. T. Roosevelt habitually associates with the names of Lorimer and Penrose in his attempts to spread the idea that the men whom he antagonizes politically are persons of evil character or addicted to evil practices in politics.

We have never heard of a discreditable act by Senator Guggenheim, but there is no doubt he owes his seat in the Senate to the use of money contributed to the Republican machine in Colorado, whose politics are unquestionably mercenary in the extreme. The present agitation for improvement in the government of Denver seems to be largely on the social side, and such agitations are apt to be ephemeral, and to leave conditions worse than those which may be eliminated. Any change for the better in Colorado will be gratifying, but it is too plain for debate that in that State the only place to purify a fountain is at its source. If the people of that State want good government and determine to have it they will get it. Otherwise, things will go on very much as they have been going on during the past twenty years, during which the women of the State have been fully endowed with all the political rights and functions of the men.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1912.

ROOSEVELT, RADICALS.

Col. Winston Churchill according to a paragraph in the Concord Patriot, objects to himself and his party being called even Roosevelt. Progressives and insists that their name is simply "Progressives." We beg to rise to a point of order right here and insist on our part that Col. Churchill and his party have no right to this name of Progressives. The history of the progressive movement in this state is already pretty well known. There are others still living and voting in New Hampshire, besides Col. Churchill who were present at the birth of the movement and who have been just as earnest faithful and some of them as efficient workers in the cause as Col. Churchill, Gov. Bass or any of the rest of the third-termers. In fact, it is speaking within bounds to say the fully one half of the recognized progressives in New Hampshire failed to follow Gov. Bass in his attempts to lead them to support the dangerous and reckless ambitions of Theodore Roosevelt for a third term. Among those who were first to protest were four of the original founders of the movement. In the number of Taft Progressives in New Hampshire today are to be found more than half of the proven progressive Republicans of the state who do not hold office and have no personal ends to serve.

Time was, just before his candidacy for governor was brought out, that Robert P. Bass when he had a political question to decide, went for advice to one, William Jewett Tucker, D. D., of Hanover, once President of Dartmouth college. Why did he not take this course before joining with those seven governors in a cut and dried scheme, probably originated by Roosevelt long before, to get the third-term candidate into the field? Why did he not take advice from the keen, sober, logical and honest mind of Prof. James F. Colby, who up to the time had been high in the governor's councils on all occasions? Did he not beforehand what the people thought of these men would cause them to say? Did his ambition lead him in a direction contrary to what he knew such disinterested patriots would advise?

Churchill allowed himself to be made a tool of, in being the third-party candidate for governor? He will be made a living sacrifice in order that the Roosevelt party in New Hampshire may possibly prevent the election of a governor by the people and then hold the balance of power in the legislature. In that event, the opportunity for trades will be presented. Will the Roosevelt party then procure the governorship for Col. Churchill and give the United States senatorship to the Democrats? Not much. The Democratic party will be offered the governorship in exchange for their votes for Robert Perkins Bass for United States senator. Possibly, Col. Churchill thinks he may be rewarded for his magnanimity by a place in the Roosevelt cabinet and doubtless he would be, if the people lost their senses enough to vote Col. Roosevelt a third term. But we are of the opinion that he'll have a long time to wait for this reward.

However, if Col. Churchill wishes to run for governor as the candidate of the Roosevelt party on nomination papers, that is his undoubted privilege. But he has no right to run under the title of Progressive, without modification. Let him call himself and his party by the name of Roosevelt Radicals, Bull Moose, Third-Termers, or any other name, but the term Progressives belongs by right of past battles and original standing quite as much to many of the supporters of President Taft in New Hampshire as it does to the Roosevelt, Bass, Churchill party.

When all is said and done, there is only one appropriate name for the new party and that is simply the Roosevelt party. It is only on the Roosevelt name, personality and ambitions that it hangs. Let Roosevelt die tomorrow and the new party would be much more quickly dispersed than would the Roosevelt ashes. Be Roosevelt party men if you want to, Messrs. Bass, Churchill, et al. It is your right. But don't misguarantee. Call yourselves by an honest name.

The St. Louis Globe Democrat says misny Mexicans along the border are maneuvering to force intervention. At the same time they say they will fight Americans if they intervene. The proverb about playing with fire is recommended to such strategists.

The Laconia Democrat says, the department of Agriculture at Washington has been making an exhaustive investigation of lightning strokes throughout the country, and it may interest New Hampshire folks to learn that the old theory that lightning will not strike certain kinds of trees, such as the laurel, aspen and beech, is exploded by the government experts, who declare that any kind of tree is likely to be struck. The report shows that lightning strikes out in Colorado more often than anywhere else in the country. The experts do not venture to predict whether the presidential lightning will stick at Oyster Bay N. J. or Ohio this season.

The Waterville Sentinel says Boston is pleased with the prospect that the Hamburg American line will establish a service of giant steamships to the Massachusetts port. If this is done it will be because the steamship people can get facilities at Boston which are denied them New York. They want longer wharves than are now obtainable in the Metropolis. Boston has recently embarked on the enterprise of creating modern port facilities. She has not relied entirely upon the assistance of the national government but has enlisted the aid of the state in a project calling for the expenditure of millions. And already the big steamship lines are apparently considering Boston as an Atlantic terminal much more seriously than they have considered her in the past.

The New York World says that on the day Vilhjalmur Stefansson arrived in New York fresh from the discovery of the blond Eskimos, news came from St. Johns, N. F., of the failure of the hunting and exploring cruise of the Albatross, under command of Captain Bartlett. As a final touch of the romantic news of the wreck of the Albatross was brought with her rescued crew, by the Scott expedition which had sailed from St. Johns on a gold hunting cruise in the Neptune. Here in one day is choice of action enough to stir the blood of adventure lovers. The earth is not one dead level of monotony. You can live a year on seal oil with stone age men who never save money or hunt musk ox in the barren wastes of the north or seek gold in far and unlikely places. There is still sunken treasure to raise. South and Central American revolutionists offer action in abundance; corpora is still to be gathered and pearls to be dived for. And if one wishes to break this neck quickly, aeroplanes will provide the supreme adventure over, flat Long Island. Romance readers may fall at these later days as dull and monotonous. After experience in Baltimore and the real reason why most people do at county fairs Tammany may feel not seek adventure is that they do not care to. There is plenty of opportunity.

Bird's Eye Views.

There is evidently no way of convincing the steamboat man that it is better to waste space on a few extra lifeboats than to take the risk of not having enough.

Mr. Nicholas Longworth has a thinking part in the great drama that must involve genuine mental fatigue.

A genuine standpat at least has the satisfaction of knowing what party he will be in four years from now.

It may be assumed that the Becker sensation has caused New York Policemen to abandon any ideas they may have entertained of equipping themselves with automobiles of armored cruiser design.

There are times when George Dix's friends have difficulty in identifying him as the man who was once strong enough to whip a bull moose.

Come to think of it Washington has managed to be happy a large number of years without winning a base ball pennant.

Descriptions of hazing never convey any idea of what constitutes the extraordinary fascination of the sport.

It gives the thoughtful American a very poor opinion of the quality of our boasted civilization to contemplate the homicide records of the United States. 1896 has been the worst record, 10622, while the year following has only 162 less. In 1910 there were nearly 8900 murders and only 104 executions for murder ordered. This is the reason why murder stalks abroad in the land almost unrebuked.

The increasing list of aviation accidents should invite encouragement for the post office department in turning its attention to Sunday closing. Instead of the once discussed project of airship mail deliveries.

There is a great temptation for a man charged with homicide in New York to try to delay his trial as much as possible in the hope that something still more sensational will happen in the meantime.

that its performances are among those which require metropolitan audiences and are not appreciated on the road.

Uncle Sam is to hold a national rat trap exposition for the scientists of the world. Recently Dr. Blue, surgeon general of the public health service, made known that he desired models of rat traps. The result has been that he has been flooded with rat traps of every conceivable design. The collection is so instructive that Dr. Blue decided to let the scientists see his Yankee rat trap show.

NO PATCHES ON MY PANTS.

Oh! yes, I've heard about the trusts. Of how 'im being done." Of how the wicked Tariff too is "robbing" every one. But I am working every day. And maybe you, perchance, have noticed that I haven't got a patch upon my pants?

They tell me that I am a "slave" of "plutocrat" rule; That I should vote for Wilson, and That the party of the mule; That he will rip the Tariff up— And on the pious dance; But, please observe I do not wear a patch upon my pants.

Once I was led astray; I think. It was in 'ninety-two. When Cleveland ran for President; I shouted for him, too. Thought there'd be work for every one, And wages would advance. He was elected and I wore big patches on my pants.

I lost my job and couldn't get Another thing to do. I walked the streets and everywhere. Soughhouse met my view; And there were thousands just like me. All fighting for a chance To earn their bread, and every man Wore patches on his pants.

Will not vote for Wilson; no. With him I don't agree. As for the party, well, kind sir, Once was enough for me. I've steady work, I have, good pay. And you may not; perchance, I'm wearing crease now, instead Of patches on my pants.

MARSHAL ENTWISTLE SAYS HE HAS NOT RESIGNED

Makes General Denial of Quitting Police Department

Chief of Police Thomas Entwistle strenuously denies that he has resigned as head of the police department, as was reported in the papers on Saturday. The report was current about the city on Saturday that Chief Entwistle had been asked to tender his resignation by the police commission, and would quit the department the first of the month.

Chief Entwistle when seen at the station made a general denial of the whole story, stating that he had not resigned, had no intention of resigning and further more had not been asked to resign.

The Police Commission, through Chairman M. C. Foye, denied Saturday night that Chief Entwistle had resigned, at least, it had not been handed in to him.

OFFER SILVER TROPHIES.

New Hampshire Horticultural Society Will Make Awards.

The New Hampshire Horticultural Society is creating quite a sensation throughout the state, by the announcement that they will this year offer four beautiful sterling silver trophies as premiums to be competed for at their Annual Meeting and Exhibition to be held at Alton, N. H., on October 23rd, 24th, and 25th. These are the most expensive and most beautiful trophies which have been offered in New Hampshire at a Horticultural Exhibit and it is said none better have ever been offered in New England. These trophies are in addition to the long list of small cash prizes which the society has always offered and several spray pumps, and lots of nursery stock.

These trophies consist of two loving cups a pitcher and a specially designed shield. The large cup valued at $85.00 is offered for the best barrel of Northern Spy or Rhode Island Greening apples; the small cup valued at $75.00 for the best display of vegetables; the pitcher valued at $85.00 for the best barrel of Baldwin's, and the shield valued at $100.00 for the best three boxes of McIntosh Red or Gravenstein apples. These trophies have been exhibited in Manchester, Concord, Pittsfield and Nashua and will be exhibited before the show, in Keene, Lancaster, Exeter, Rochester and Alton.

Fruit-growers throughout the state should be deeply interested in these prizes which are well worth a lot of hard work to win. The society's premium list containing the full list of premiums including photographs of 100 trophies is now ready and should be in the hands of every fruit-grower in New Hampshire. Premium lists and entry blanks may be obtained from the Secretary, Stanley K. Lovell, Goffstown N. H.

SAILORS TO OSEE CANAL WORK.

Hon. George von L. Meyer, secretary of the navy has planned the winter cruise of the Atlantic fleet to include a trip to Colon Panama, in order that the crews of the vessels may have an opportunity of inspecting the greatest construction of modern times. A trip to the big canal and across the Isthmus to the Pacific ocean during the period of construction will be of such great interest to the high class men who now compose the enlisted force of the navy that secretary Meyer has determined to reserve the necessary time from the winter maneuvers in the Caribbean to enable the sailors to make this coveted trip before the work has advanced to completion. It is probable that special trains will be provided by the authorities of the isthmus to transport the men to all points of interest along the route of the canal. This will be the last opportunity for the men of the fleet to witness the most interesting phases of construction, as the work is rapidly being pushed to completion. Hett left on Sunday for Rochester. Over 91 per cent of the concrete for the locks was in place on Sept. 1, while the great Gatun locks were 95 per cent completed on Sept. 1. While the official date of opening of the Panama canal has been set for January 1, 1915, the present indications are that the canal will be practically completed in the fall of 1913 and it is the intention to allow the vessels to pass through the canal as soon as completed. The total amount of material excavated during August was 2,443,353 cubic yards making a total of 208,552,405 cubic yards which has been removed since the work was first begun, leaving only 35,832,598 cubic yards to be excavated.—Army and Navy Journal.

I. O. G. T. GRAND LODGE.

Forty-seventh Annual Meeting to Be Held at Littleton.

The Grand Lodge of New Hampshire of the International order of Good Templars is to meet in its forty seventh annual session at Littleton on Wednesday and Thursday October 2 and 3. The sessions will be held in Grand Army Hall opening at 1 o'clock on Wednesday when the organization of the standing committee will take place. The hall will be opened in the forenoon and dinner will be served.

During the afternoon session there will be reports submitted and the various matters of business which may come up will be considered. The order has had a good year and there will be considerable of importance to act on.

A public reception will be held in evening of Wednesday. This reception will be to the grand officers and representatives and is tendered by the citizens of Littleton. An address of welcome will be given by Harry L. Heald of that town and the response will be by the grand chief templar, Arthur B. Dickey of Manchester. There will follow a musical and literary program with an address by the national grand secretary Willard O. Wylie of Boston. There will be short addresses by others.

Thursday the Grand Lodge session will open at 8 o'clock and the remainder of the business will be transacted including the election and installation of officers for the following year. An afternoon session will be held if it is found necessary in order to wind up the business in the grand lodge session.

Each lodge is entitled to a representative and also additional representatives for each fifty members after the first fifty. Juvenile Templars and district lodges are also entitled to representatives.

WILL EXHIBIT AT ROCHESTER.

Ex-Secret Commissioner Joseph Hett left on Sunday for Rochester. Over 91 per cent of the concrete for eral blooded colts. Mr. Hett has at home, including a stallion and several previous fairs captured prizes for his exhibit of horse flesh, and hopes to be successful this year.

TO BE ON EXHIBITION

An interesting exhibit of the coming Panama Pacific Exposition at San Francisco in 1915 will be the old schooner Hiram, built at Biddeford, Me., ninety three years ago, and which has been in active service ever since being launched. She now hails from Fall River, Mass., and is being fitted out at Boston. Next to the famous Polly, which is now 107 years old, the Hiram is the oldest vessel flying the American flag.

MARY.

"Little mother," she began
As household drudge quite early:
A child herself, yet strife outran
Her childhood's years unfairly.
To little brothers, sisters, there,
Whose ways and whims so vary,
Is ministered a mother's care
By the devoted Mary.

So, year by year she takes the place
Of the dead mother, trying
To cheerful keep each little face,
Herself though, much denying:
And father's wants are tended to
By her, the household fairy.
Until there's very much to do
For poor, devoted Mary.

She must be at the beck and call
Of father, sister, brother,
And heavily the duties fall
On little sister-mother:

From morn till night the little maid
Must please each one's vagary,
Till wearily the burden's laid
On kind unselfish Mary.

She never had the time to play
Like other children; giving
Her hours to sewing mending—yes,
For others she is living.
The washing must be done, the meals
Prepared, when—sad or airy:
It matters little how she feels,
It's always "up" to Mary.

And her reward is in this thought:
She tries to do her duty
As well as ever she can and ought;
And there's a world of beauty
In life that other cannot trace,
Who of good deeds are chary
When viewed from such lofty place
As that attained by Mary.

BOSTON & MAINE MAY PURCHASE MT. WASHINGTON

Seven Millions Asked for Hotel Property and Tract of Land.

The Mt. Washington Hotel and Mt. Pleasant Hotel at Bretton Woods, N.H., may be purchased by the Boston & Maine railroad for $7,000,000 according to the Boston News Bureau.

The News Bureau yesterday printed the following article regarding the possible transfer of the property, which includes, besides two of the largest hotels in the White Mountains, a considerable tract of land:

It is said that the asking price for the Bretton Woods property in New Hampshire, which includes the famous Mt. Washington Hotel and the son at the White Mountains has begun to lengthen and the hotel is returning a small dividend. It is believed that it can this year pay 6 percent upon its $2,000,000 cost. It is understood, however, that for the entire property $7,000,000 is now the asking price.

The proprietors are much encouraged over the outlook and propose spending $150,000 in improvements at the Mt. Pleasant.

The New Haven management of the Boston & Maine seems to be following the policy of the Canadian Pacific in acquiring a line of first-class hotels, but $7,000,000 is a large price to pay for a single spot.

It is said, however, that if the Boston & Maine should purchase the Mt. Washington property it would delay for some time the building of the new Tip Top House on Mt. Washington, but not the construction of the proposed electric railway encircling the mountain in substitution for the present cog-wheel railroad. At present there are 15 surveyors at work on the mountain locating the proposed line.

LINE STORM IS NEAR AT HAND

The average New Englander on Friday fully believed that the line storm was near at hand and perhaps a storm which usually visits this section of the country about this time may be about ready to strike.

Critical men, however, smile at old folks for believing that the sun's crossing of the line compels a storm. Relative to this question the Boston Herald concluded an article on the "Truth about the line storm as follows:

In truth the line storm of our father's weather lore neither is fact nor yet is fiction. Of course the sun's crossing of an imaginary line cannot beget a real storm. But on the other hand at the time of the autumnal equinox the sun is shining straight down upon the equatorial sea, and the regions of calms is a little north of the equator. These are just the conditions for easy development of tropical cyclones, and for their easy passage westward. The violent storms arising from overturns of hot and cold air in the doldrums follow the general wind movement westward to the West Indies or into the gulf, where they reach the prevailing southwest drift of air, and recurve to the right, sweep northeastward near the coastline, and disappear at last far out in the north Atlantic. These tropical cyclones the hurricanes of the logbooks, are the half truth in the line storm. They are also the reason why the government's daily weather reports mention at this time of year the West Indian weather conditions.

LESS DRUNKENNESS.

STOMACH STARVERS EAT ANYTHING NOW

No Indigestion or Upset Stomach for 'Pap's Diapepsin' Users

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your pharmacist a tiny-ent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, gulliness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches, dizziness or intestinal griping. This will all go, and besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomachs, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

These large fifty-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of dyspepsia, indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

The overzealous reformers would suffer the services to regulate their own affairs in accordance with what experience shows to be best. Many who now exchange treats in ill company in some low barroom, with liquors having from 52 to 54 percent of alcohol and poor stuff at that would be drinking in good company in the shelter of the post exchange the best of beer, having only 4 percent of alcohol in it. On the light of wines formerly authorized in the post exchange claret has 13.3 percent of alcohol. Rhine wine 11 percent and Moselle, only 9.6 percent. Army and Navy Journal.

DESIGNS AS STAGE DRIVER

Miss of Stockbridge, Mass., Makes Remarkable Record in 23 Years' Service.

Stockbridge, Mass.—Miss Florence S. Markham, who drives the stage and carries the United States mail between the village of Interlaken and Stockbridge for the government, has made a remarkable record in her occupation, which she has followed since 1889.

In that time she has traveled nearly 100,000 miles.

In the winter Miss Markham has been forced to shovel her way through snowdrifts, and in the spring she has repaired damage done to roads by heavy rains, in order to make her trip.

MONKEY HELD UP THIS TOWN

Man Put Police to Flight But Is Finally Captured by Small Boy.

Lancaster, Pa.—A big monkey, used by side-show fakirs, demoralized the police and had the western part of the city in an uproar, when it escaped from its owner, John Gormley. It made a raid on a grocery store and clawed a young college student who tried to capture it.

The police were summoned, but the monkey charged them and they fled. Then it got into a back yard, where it tore a cat to pieces. Finally a small boy coaxed it into a chicken pen, where it was captured.

To make apple sage put 1 cup sage in a quart of tepid water, with a pinch of salt, and soak 1 hour. Take 6 or 8 apples, pare and core or quartered and steamed tender, and put in the pudding, dish. Boil and stir the sage until clear, adding water to make it thin, and pour it over the apples. Bake 1 hour. This is good hot with butter and sugar. As apples are hard to get now, make it this way: One quart milk, 4 tablespoons sage boiled in the milk till soft. Set dish in kettle of hot water and let the sage swell gradually. Beat up 3 eggs and stir into cooked milk and sage; salt and sugar to taste. Then put in oven and bake very lightly. Serve with cream sauce.

WON GOLF PRIZES.

PROPHECY WAS TRUE

Tragedy Rests on House Near Grave of Slain Wooer.

Curse That Rests Over Place Near St. Joseph, Mo., Had Its Inception When Two Rival Gypsies Fought Over Girl.

St. Joseph, Mo.—Built upon the unmarked grave of a murdered wooer, a little house stands upon a lonely knoll near Saxton station, seven miles east of St. Joe, Mo., a thing accursed and shunned by those who know its history. They fear the baleful influences which are said to surround it.

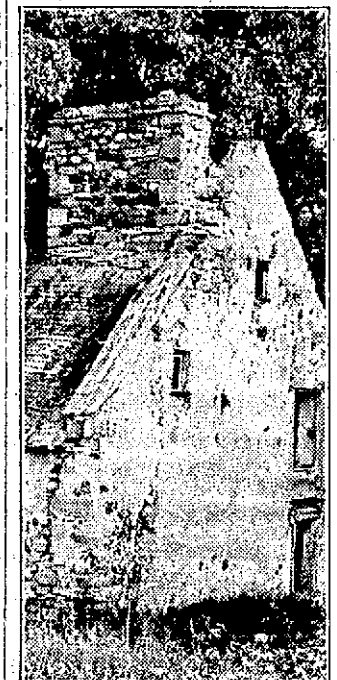

During the 12 years it has been standing eight lives have been blotted out by violent means, illness and ill fortune have followed the advent of new tenants, the crops have failed, while those on neighboring farms prospered and a sequence of misfortunes has dogged the footsteps of those who have braved the place and its curse.

The curse that hangs over the place began before the house was built. It had its inception when two young gypsies, rivals for the hand of a daughter of the tribe, fell out over their love affairs and fought. The vanquished one stole up behind his sleeping rival that night and plunged a knife into his back. Then he went to the king of the band and confessed what he had done.

Whatever the motive which inspired the king—whether his heart was with the murderer or whether he did not want an investigation by the authorities—he ordered that the body of the slain man be taken to the knoll near by and buried.

It was years later that Christopher Schroers, a young farmer, building the house to shelter the wife whom he soon proposed to take, looked down from the roof he was shingling to see standing at the foot of his ladder an aged gypsy crone. She expressed a desire to tell his fortune.

"The fates are unkind," said the gypsy dolefully, shaking her head. "You are soon to be married. You dream of a long life ahead. You think to gather with your children and grandchildren about this place. But in your hand I see naught but trouble. Your dreams will not come true."

House on Which Curse Rests.

True. You will meet a death of violence, and your widow will be left to mourn alone."

"Get out with your bad-luck tales," said Schroers and laughed again.

"I read a truly," said the gypsy. "The house that you build shall be a house of ill luck. Beneath one of the trees that shades it there lies a body—one of my own tribe who was buried there by the hands of his friends. His spirit cries out for vengeance and a peaceful, hallowed grave. Until this is accomplished there shall be no rest for those who live here."

Schroers returned to his work whistling. If he ever thought of the gypsy woman's prophecy he did not mention it to the girl he soon married and look to live in the new house. A few months later, returning from St. Joseph one night, Schroers allowed his wagon to tarry a moment too long on the railway crossing almost in front of his own gate. They picked up his mangled body a hundred feet away, and the wreck of his wagon was scattered along the right of way. Tragedy has marked the place ever since.

BAD ROADS COST MILLIONS

Farmers Lose That Amount Yearly, Says A. C. Trumbo of Muskogee, Okla.

Denver, Col.—A. C. Trumbo of Muskogee, Okla., president of the trans-Mississippi congress, which met in Salt Lake City, declared that the producers of agricultural products in America lose annually $250,000,000 over their European neighbors through cost of transportation.

The solution of the problem, said Mr. Trumbo, is in good roads, a question which he says the forthcoming congress is going to make paramount.

KEEP SCISSORS IN KITCHEN

Innumerable Ways in Which They May Be of Far Greater Service Than the Knife.

A pair of scissors in the kitchen are of invaluable assistance—not the lamp scissors or the dull pair that is black with age, nor the garden pair, nor yet those with the missing points, but a new, sharp, shiny pair that will cut.

It is a difficult matter, for instance, to remove the white pith from grape fruit with a knife; one digs and jabs, and finally cuts out the offending center and, incidentally, makes a hole in the fruit through which the juice drips onto the plate. Not so with the scissors. A snip, a pull, and there it is without trouble or mutilation.

And bacon! How few women can slice off the slippery rind, while with scissors every morsel can be quickly pared away without a vestige of waste. In cutting off the legs of a lobster, in breaking open the claws and cutting through the tail, the scissors will do the work uncomplainingly without the aid of the hammer and ice pick.

In preparing vegetables they are incomparable. Try them in cutting the roots from asparagus, trimming rusty lettuce leaves, shaping flowerets of cauliflower, and cutting up asparagus. Dice up the pineapple with them, cut up the meat and fish for salads, remove the veins from shrimps, use them for the fish fins and save your fingers.

TOWEL DESIGNS ARE PRETTY

Natural Colors Introduced to Add to Effect, and Results Speak for Themselves.

When the dainty cross stitch designs in natural colors were fashioned in garlands from flowers and bowknots on towels last year many declared nothing could be prettier, but now the darn stitch and the bias stitch, also in natural colors, have been introduced and they certainly are attractive.

At the present moment, however, no towels are meeting with popular favor like these variously termed the "medieval design," the "20th century design" and "Venetian point"—designations that are confusing in both period and place. There is some excuse for this, as the designs show the influence of lace's evolution and do not cling to any one decided type, but borrow beauty from all. The work is done in a sort of buttonhole stitch, combined with punch work.

Covering a chicken with cheese-cloth will prevent it from getting scorched or drying too much while broasting. When the fowl is ready for the oven sew it in a piece of cheese-cloth, and baste it through this covering, only removing the cloth at the time the chicken is ready to be served, when you will find it has an exquisite golden brown color.

Nasturtium leaves, the tiny green ones, give a delicious flavor to both hot and cold tea.

When making picnic sandwiches turn the loaf upside down, and you will find that you can cut thinner and even slices.

Hamburg Steak and Potato.

Take a pound of cold boiled potatoes, pour on them a wine glass of hot milk or water, add a big lump of dripping, cold bacon fat or butter, mash to a pulp, then beat up with a fork until quite light; take three-quarters of a pound of hamburger steak, make into small cakes, sprinkle a little finely chopped onion on top of each cake. Make the potato pulp into thick, round cakes and put a cake of hamburger steak on each. Place in a well-greased bag. Close and seal it; cook in a hot oven for 25 minutes.

Graham Nut Bread.

One cake compressed yeast dissolved in cup of warm water with one teaspoon sugar. Let stand until foamy. Make soft sponge with four cups warm water, two teaspoons salt, one teaspoon lard, two tablespoons sugar, and white flour. Add the yeast and let stand until very light. Mix into soft loaf with one cup sugar, one-half cup walnuts cut fine and two and one-half pounds Graham flour. Let rise and make into four loaves. Bake in moderate oven one hour.

To Soften Butter.

When butter gets too hard for use in winter fill a bowl with boiling water. Allow it to stand for a few moments until the bowl is thoroughly hot. Empty out the water and place the steaming bowl over the plate of butter. This may be done in a few minutes before one wishes to use the butter. There is no waste and the flavor of the butter is not impaired as by heating at the stove.

When Cooking Eggs.

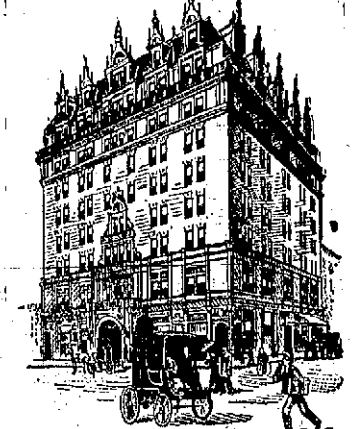

Here is a fact worth knowing when you cook eggs. A spoonful of flour added to the grease in which eggs are to be fried will prevent them from breaking or sticking to the pan.

Rye Sandwiches.

Cut rye bread into very thin slices and any fanciful shape. Spread with a filling of cream cheese. Grate the cheese. Rub to a paste with melted butter. Season with salt and pepper and spread.

TWIN BLADE SAFETY RAZOR

Regularly sold for $1, for one coupon cut from this paper and only 48c.

This is the only safety razor we have seen that makes a professional barber's stroke possible.

It is constructed on an entirely new principle and does away with the sensation of pulling, scraping and tearing, the common fault of the ordinary "hoe-type."

The peculiar curve of the handle so fits the hand that you get an unusually firm grip, absolutely preventing vibration and permitting a natural, sweeping, DIAGONAL STROKE.

This razor is better finished than razors costing many times as much, and will give you more real satisfaction than any razor you can buy, no matter what the price.

For the convenience of our readers, the Portsmouth Herald has made arrangements with The Tilton Drug Co., 31 Market St., to redeem this coupon.

THIS COUPON properly filled out and presented to The Tilton Drug Co., 31 Market St., with 48c (62c by mail), entitles the bearer to a dollar TWIN BLADE SAFETY RAZOR, with the compliments of The Portsmouth Herald.

CHIEF ENTWISTLE
DECIDED NOT TO RESIGN POSITION

It is not The Herald's intention of printing anything but the facts and it seems that the article published on Saturday that Chief Entwistle had resigned should have read that he had been asked to resign.

The Herald has no feeling of ill-will towards Mr. Entwistle and the fact that Chairman Foye had discussed with the Marshal the idea of his resigning and that the Chief had taken it under advisement lead to the story that he had decided in the negative. The marshal talked over the matter of resigning with some of his friends and later decided not to resign.
